

Enlighten.
Encourage.
Enable.

Media Contact:
Lisa Steinberg
Director of Marketing
800-355-0779 x125
lisa@envisialearning.com

March 01, 2006

ConsultingTools USA changes name to "Envisia Learning"

New Corporate Identity Builds On the Philosophy Behind Service Offerings

SANTA MONICA, CA – ConsultingTools USA, a leading provider and developer of innovative, high-quality people and process solutions for consultants and business professionals, today announced it has changed its name to "Envisia Learning." The new name builds on the company's philosophy and corporate mission which is to elevate the quality of work life by providing assessments and programs designed to enhance the ability of coaches', trainers' and consultants' to deliver solutions that improve operational effectiveness and create a better working environment. The Envisia Learning name, which reflects the goal to enlighten, encourage and enable individuals, will be used to focus Envisia's diverse product line. Consistent with the corporate name change, Envisia will now be found on the Web at www.envisialearning.com.

Used by coaches, trainers and consultants to effectively deliver meaningful solutions to their clients – both corporations and individuals, Envisia provides customized and off-the-shelf products in the areas of 360-degree feedback; personality/style, career and stress assessments; survey solutions; and online performance management systems. The company also offers an online professional development planning system to help individuals translate feedback into meaningful behavioral change.

"The name, Envisia Learning, and new tagline are meant to reflect why we do business," said Andy Parkinson, Envisia's chief executive officer. "This is a company that will continue to seek innovative ways to help coaches, trainers and consultants improve the quality of work life at an individual and corporate level. Our name and tagline have changed to better represent our mission, which has remained the same since our inception."

<more>

Introduced in 1999 as ConsultingTools USA, Envisia has established itself as one of the premier providers of assessment products and services for Fortune 500 companies in all industries. It has partnered with some of the largest companies to provide unique solutions to enhance individual and team effectiveness and demonstrate return on investment with its programs and services. Envisia Learning has an international influence and clientele and has well-established strategic business partners across Europe, Asia and Canada.

ABOUT ENVISIA LEARNING

Envisia Learning is a provider and developer of innovative, high-quality people and process solutions for consultants and business professionals working with individuals, teams and organizations. We provide a variety of customized and off-the-shelf products in the areas of 360-degree feedback; personality, career and stress assessments; survey solutions and online performance management systems – all customized and branded to meet our customers needs. For more information on Envisia products and services, please visit www.envisialearning.com.